DELAY ACTION ON DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL

Motion Unanimously Voted Today at Annual Harding Association Meeting.

SEEK TO AVOID POLITICS

Letter from Member of State Republican Committee Read by Chairman.

"Action relative to the dedication of the Harding Memorial is postponed," was written in the minutes of the eighth annual meeting of the Harding Memorial association at Hotel Harding today.

Although no formal explanation of the postponement provided for in a motion carried unanimously was forthcoming from the meeting, it appeared to be consensus of the 16 members present that every effort should be made to avoid injecting any politics into the dedication. It was remarked that a dedication at present would not be desirable in the face of the proceedings at the last state Republican convention in which dedication of the memorial was demanded. Not in Favor of "Strained Effort" The practice of begging or making a strained effort to effect a dedication would not be a compliment to a dead President, Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general under President Harding, said. The dedication will come around naturally in time, he said.

So far as dedicating the memorial is concerned, "thousands of people visiting the memorial are annually dedicated. It better than anyone talking can do," Dr. Carl Sawyer of Marion declared.

Although possibility of a dedication next year was mentioned, no action was taken by the association. The association took cognizance of the widespread publicity given the delay in the dedication in making its decision. The publicity was dismissed.

Letters from Miss Gertrude Jones, vice chairman of the state Republican committee to Hoke Donithen, chairman of the executive committee of the association, relative to the dedication, and the answers of Chairman Donithen were read.

In her first letter, Miss Jones informed Donithen she was member of a committee named at the state convention to "see if the dedication could not be arranged for, without greater delay."

Miss Jones also said in the first letter "I have been told indirectly, it is true, but from source which I consider responsible, that President Hoover will be glad to come to Marion for these services either late this fall or early next spring."

Secretary Donithen answered by saying, "the trustees of the Harding Memorial association, probably feel qualified to handle the dedication without making it a political meeting or without the aid or assistance of any outside organization."

In a second letter to Donithen, Miss Jones asked "if the President has ever been formally requested by the commission (meaning the association) to make this dedication?" Donithen did not answer the question in his reply but stated "if, in the future, you can be of any assistance, we (the association) will gladly advise you."

Frank A. Huber of Marion was named member of the association to succeed Charles Schwab, whose resignation by letter to Secretary Hoke Donithen was accepted by the association. Schwab's reason for retiring was his retirement from active business life. He is 68.

Financials in Good Condition Financial reports for both the Harding memorial association and the Harding home and museum showed both to be in sound financial condition.

Improvement of the Christian home adjoining the Harding home, purchased several years ago at a cost of $10,000, and removal of the museum from the Harding home to the former Christian residence had apparently been guaranteed late in the meeting. An expenditure of several thousand dollars to replace the Harding home in its former condition, and to establish the museum and caretakers' quarters in the Christian building will be necessary.

Boy Dies from Fall on Blade of Knife

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 6.—Donald Knapp had wanted a pocket knife with shiny blades for most of his five years.

Finally his father yielded to his request and gave him one as a reward for taking his besting medicine "to make him well."

A few moments after Donald began playing with his entrancing toy, he ran to his father, crying up in his joy and died.

The boy had stumbled and severed his throat with one of the shiny blades.

WHEN BRITISH DIRIGIBLE CRASHED

SEEK TO FIX CAUSE OF AIR GIANT'S CRASH

French, British Officials Unite in Investigation of Tragic Death of 48.

VICTIMS ARE UNIDENTIFIED

Hours After Wreck None of Charred Bodies Had Been Recognized.

By The Associated Press. BEAUVAIS, France, Oct. 6.—While vigorous investigations were under way today into the loss of 48 lives in the mysterious wrecking of the world's largest dirigible airship, the British R-101, near here early Sunday, a warship was on its way today to France to bear home to a sorrowing England the bodies of the victims.

Despite the most searching examinations by officials of both Britain and France, it was announced this evening that not a single body as yet had been identified. Everything even to the smallest trinkets found at the scene of the disaster, today were enclosed with the charred bodies in coffins and prepared for removal to Boulogne, where at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning they will be embarked for London.

French and British officials worked in closest cooperation in their efforts to solve the puzzle of how the R-101 met her fate in the hours of darkness as she sailed over France, some 50 miles north of Paris yesterday morning.

Stowaway Found The presence of one stowaway and the possibility of two aboard the craft was admitted today by Air Commander John Holt, who headed the British investigating committee. Whether this would change the earlier figures of the number of dead and those aboard the craft was left to further official announcements. Previous figures had placed the victims at 48, one of them possibly a woman, and the whole number of souls aboard the R-101 at 54. This announcement disagreed with reports of survivors who insisted there were 56 persons aboard, of whom only 11 had been saved, one of the rescued dying at dawn today. Police said 47 bodies had been taken out of the ruins of the ship, to which was added the name of W. C. Haddiffe, a rigger.

Delving into the twisted wreckage, the investigators this afternoon found a woman's shoe. This gave clue to the belief that a woman stowaway was aboard. The finding of the shoe caused a dramatic pause in the efforts of police emergency workers and was followed by the admission of the British air commander that the owner of the shoe may have been one of two stowaways aboard the dirigible.

Holt, who was described as directing the British investigation into the disaster, said the British air ministry may have made a mistake in the count of the persons aboard. He declined to make any further statement concerning the catastrophe but added that after a general meeting of experts it had been held tonight.

Seek To Fix Cause The cause of the disaster was a particular point of inquiry. The big ship, flying low, had dug its nose deeply into a hillside. What caused her to fly low and by what force she was driven down against the slope were matters which vitally concerned the probe.

Members of the Franco-British committee which is investigating the disaster arrived here this forenoon and began their inquiry.

GERMANS HOLD TO FAITH IN DIRIGIBLES

Greatest Danger To End with Elimination of Hydrogen, Eckener Says.

By International News Service. BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Although profoundly shocked by the terrible tragedy which droned the once proud British dirigible R-101 in a mass of tangled wreckage on the side of a French hill, German aeronautical experts today refused to relinquish their faith in the practicability of the lighter-than-air ship for long-distance passenger transportation.

The tragic crash of the R-101 and its appalling death toll left the leading German airman and constructors of aircraft momentarily breathless, but from most of them today came calm assurance that the career of the dirigible as a successful means of speedy transportation did not bury itself forever beneath the smoking wreckage of the R-101 at Beauvais.

No Change in Plans Ernst Brandenburg, German air minister who has charge of the government subsidies administered to the German airship Graf Zeppelin, made it clear the British catastrophe would not affect this nation's plans for dirigible development.

Arriving at Friedrichshafen this morning after a tour over Germany aboard the Graf, Dr. Eckener soon dispelled any doubts as to his attitude toward dirigibles in an interview with International News Service.

Visibly affected by the tragedy, Dr. Eckener insisted the accident had not undermined his faith in airships.

"The R-101 catastrophe has not

TWO GET FIVE-YEAR TERMS IN OHIO PEN

Chester Whitt and Marion Trimmer Sentenced as Parole Violators.

Because they violated paroles by falling into further trouble, two prisoners were given five-year sentences in the state penitentiary by Judge George B. Scofield this morning in common pleas court.

Chester Whitt, found guilty of automobile stealing by a jury last week, and Marion Trimmer, who was arrested last week on a burglary charge, were the recipients of the sentences.

Whitt was on parole from the Mansfield reformatory while Trimmer more than a month ago was placed on a year's probation by the court after he pleaded guilty to burglary and stealing an automobile. Whitt's trial last week followed his arrest in Columbus last June when a parking lot ticket found on his person led to the recovery of a Hupmobile sedan stolen the night before from a Marion garage. He was convicted largely on the testimony of Detective William Murphy of Columbus who arrested him.

Trimmer was summoned to court today as the result of his arrest last week. The court had given him a year's probation and that his parole would be a five-year term at Columbus within the next year as soon as commitment was drawn.

Old Houses Offer Varied Opportunities for Modernization

Modern Duplex Example of Many Possibilities

Few Simple Changes Turns Old Dwelling Which Could Not Be Rented into Profitable Investment; Roof Lines Entirely Revamped.

There are many old, worn out houses standing idle because they are too far run down to be attractive for the average renter. These houses may have sound timbers and built into them the best of workmanship, but if the exterior lines are old, the siding weather-beaten and unpainted, the interior lacking in all of those modern conveniences that make for the comfort and convenience of the housewife, they are avoided.

Houses standing idle are a source of expense. Taxes must be paid, even if no income is derived from the property. A vacant house is like the proverbial horse, standing in the barn and eating his head off.

A Typical Example
The old dwelling illustrated below is a good example of a house that could not be rented because of its run down condition. It stood idle, a distinct loss to its owner.

Finally the idea of modernization was applied to the property. Instead of making a single dwelling out of the old frame, a duplex house with two entrances and two sets of living quarters were developed. The house as conceived by the builder is shown to the left.

The task of modernizing the exterior of the dwelling is not as complicated as it seems on casual inspection of the before and after illustrations. The old L which is shown to the left of the lower illustration has been added to the new gable being flush with the old face at the right. The roof lines have been entirely changed by the modernization.

Stucco Siding Now Used
Instead of a frame siding stucco is now used for the new duplex. The use of stucco is widespread, being found on both large and small residences. In this instance it makes an attractive siding for the general design of the structure. Each of the new entrances to the house will have a neat little Colonial porch with white pillars and a pitch roof. The doors will be of the same design, wide and hospitable in appearance.

The windows are grouped, several units being placed in an opening. The arrangement affords an abundance of daylighting on the interior and at the same time give adequate ventilation.

The trim is white, blending in well with the general color scheme of the duplex.

Up in the two gables will be noted the architectural decorative plan, the parallel half timbers in

Probst Bros. Celebrate 25th Year as Plumbing, Heating Contractors

Today, Probst Bros. are celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of their business as plumbing and heating contractors.

As is true of most large successful businesses of today, this firm had a modest beginning. John P. Probst, after being associated for seven years with the Marion Supply & Oil Co., and after they had disposed of their plumbing and heating business, decided to go into the same lines for himself.

The only available business room at the time was space in the rear of what is now Bartlett's Drug Store. The new firm remained here for a short time, a large room shortly being leased at 177 East Center street and occupied for nearly seven years.

Each year saw the firm grow and widen the scope of its service.

In the meantime A. E. Probst and G. H. Probst had become members of the firm. In 1913 John P. Probst purchased the ground and erected a building where they are now located. Experience had taught them what they needed was a display room and real shop and the building was planned and built accordingly.

In their showroom you will find a complete display of high grade plumbing and heating material so arranged that you may see just how the fixtures will look in your own bathroom. If you contemplate doing anything in plumbing or heating it will be time well spent to visit their showroom.

Their stock of pipe fitting and valves are so arranged around the work shop that there is no time lost in getting anything wanted. A place for everything and everything in its place.

Their work shop has been some thought in its arrangement. Tools are conveniently placed. Shop is equipped with up-to-date pipe threading machines, off machines which cut any pipe from 1-8 to 6 inches. They also find lathe, drill press, and forge. Everyone says it is more like a machine shop than a plumbing shop.

Their service cars, eight in number, take care of their work in Marion and adjoining cities. There is not a job too far away. Even the service is out in their records. So you can see an exact copy of any they have done in the past 25 years in less than five minutes.

Prices Same
Carrying a complete stock of only high grade plumbing and heating material with their growth has brought about the chase of most all their material in car-load lots. This enables everyone to purchase high plumbing and heating material at the lowest possible prices, no matter how small the order.

A total of 17 people make up employment of this firm and have provided steady employment for their employees. This is a thing unusual in the construction work, but a condition which the employees better acquainted with their trade and they with customers and ourselves can render better service.

We extend to all an invitation let us prove why people like Probst Bros. on any job. It is based on business principles business way.
An indignant man often gets the satisfaction he expects when he brings the suit for $1,000,000 regards bringing the suit a victory.

Greatest Danger To End with Elimination of Hydrogen, Eckener Says.

shaken my confidence in airships," the veteran dirigible commander said. "It will not change our building plans one iota. I believe still that a trans-Atlantic airship line is feasible."

Would Eliminate Hydrogen.

The greatest element of danger will be eliminated through the use of non-inflammable helium in place of the highly inflammable hydrogen gas with which the R-101 was inflated. I understand the United States shortly plans to lift its helium embargo, which will give the use of this valuable gas to the world.

"The R-101 apparently was too heavy when it met disaster, and flew too low to keep its orientation in view of the low clouds, and failing to have sufficient altitude, could not maneuver quickly enough to counteract the squall."

"What is more regrettable is that practically all Britain's airship experts were killed in the tragedy, which undoubtedly will hamper British airship development."

"The 'big power company' didn't like that an offer of $1,000,000, then $1,500,000, and finally $1,800,000, for the $200,000 plant."

The owners said, "take it." Then the big company said to the public service commission, "you certainly can't object to our charging the public enough to yield 8 per cent on $1,800,000, for THAT IS WHAT WE ACTUALLY PAID FOR THE PROPERTY."

Now the little power that buy electric current have the pleasure of paying for the "generosity" of the big company, paying $1,800,000 for a $200,000 plant to end competition.

ENGLAND in various ways, including the publication of an excellent edition of his works, remembers the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Hazlitt, who was a real Democrat, a sincere radical and a brilliant writer.

He perceived and always maintained the necessity, justice and value of the French revolution.

Read his essay on the fear of death. Since he did not worry because he wasn't alive to 200 years before his birth, he saw no reason for worrying because he might not be alive 200 years after his death.

Writers will be interested in his essay on the prose of poets. He believed that no poet could write good prose. He was wrong.

Those for whom the world is all sport should read his essay on the baseball player. Mr. Brown or Mr. Corum could not do better.

WET-DRY QUESTION PUT IN BACKGROUND

Senator Watson Says Party To Support Candidates Regardless of Stand.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The prohibition question, which excites millions of voters and splits party ranks in a half dozen states, today was relegated to the sidelines as a national issue by Senator James E. Watson, spokesman for President Hoover in the senate.

While the President in his speech-making tours invaded only those states where his party is pledged to the Eighteenth amendment, Watson declared the Republican national committee would support Republican congressional candidates everywhere, regardless of their views on prohibition. This was a little different from the utterance of Senator Simeon D. Fess, the Republican national chairman, that national speakers would not be assigned to states where Republicans are pledged to the repeal of the dry amendment.

means are pledged to the repeal of the dry amendment.

Watson, a life-long dry, predicted the election of another dry congress, even though he favors aiding the election of wet Republicans. Over and above the wet and dry issue, he is anxious to retain some sort of a working majority in the house while hanging on to his party's "paper" majority in the senate. Otherwise, he feels the administration's legislative program will be kicked all over Capitol Hill in the next two years, with a serious aftermath in the elections of 1937.

PIQUA DENTIST DIES IN AUTO CRASH HERE

Dr. Earl C. Smith, 39, Killed When Car Crashes into Poultry Truck.

See the truck and was well around it when he saw another car coming from the opposite direction.

The sedan caught on a corner of the truck, literally stripping the right side from the car, and pinning the three men against the truck.

Dr. Smith suffered a fractured skull and his chest was crushed.

Taken to Hospital

The men were taken to City hospital in the W. C. Boyd ambulance. The wounds of the two men were dressed and they were released. Dr. Smith died about 20 minutes after he was admitted to the hospital. He was taken to the Boyd funeral home on South Main street and was taken to Piquette late yesterday afternoon in the funeral car.

The truck was owned and driven by Morris Goldstone, a poultry dealer at 987 E. 103th street, Cleveland. He had been on a period trip through this section of the state buying poultry for the Cleveland markets. His son, Saul, 14, was with him. Neither was injured.

Immediately following the accident, Goldstone drove to Marion and reported his story to the police, giving his name and address. Goldstone told police that he was parked well off to the side of the road. He took the truck to Albert Bros. garage for repair.

Dr. Smith is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lena Starbuck Smith, a graduate nurse, and two children, Jack, 8, and Jean, 6. His parents are dead.

Funeral Tuesday

He was born March 31, 1891, in Clayton, O., near Dayton, to Aaron and Sarah Cruce Smith. His marriage to Miss Starbuck took place in Dayton in 1921.

Dr. Smith was a member of the Reformed church at West Alexandria, of the Masonic blue lodge and the Knights of Pythias lodge at that place.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home in Piquette, with burial in the Clayton cemetery.

The coach was parked along the road without lights, according to Young. Mrs. Young was taken to the Dr. F. C. Smith clinic. Young's car was removed to the Haberman Chevrolet Co. for repairs.

Air Tragedy Probe Opens

British technical experts visited the wreck.

Their first act was to examine the airship's rudder and general system of transmission from the position of the steering apparatus.

Gendarmes continued to scrutinize the debris of all sorts which strewn the scene and one discovered a big watch whose hour was marked at ten minutes past two, a possible indication of the exact time of the disaster.

Grief-stricken at the disaster which in a moment robbed it of the mistress of the air and its finest air talent, the British government dispatched Sir John Salmond, air marshal and chief of staff, to initiate an inquiry and determine circumstances and cause of the catastrophe.

French Aid Accepted

French offers of cooperation were accepted. Sir John flew back to London, leaving Major A. V. Holt in charge. He would say nothing of the disaster other than that there was every reason to suppose the explosion which destroyed the ship was caused by the brusque landing of the ship.

Sir John ordered that every effort be made to identify the bodies, all charred beyond recognition. So intense was the heat that rings in some cases were melted about the fingers of the victims. A monacle found with one body may fix identity of that one, since only two aboard. Lord Thomson and Sir Seton Branker, used the single eyeglass.

The R-101, big sister of the R-100, which successfully crossed the Atlantic and returned last July, was seven hours out of Cardington, enroute to Karachi, India, on an 8,000-mile journey, when the crash occurred. After hours of fighting the violent storm which raged over

HOOVER ASKS LEGION FOR PEACE SERVICE

President Winds Up Busy Afternoon with Talk to Labor Federation.

peace arise from the sense of justice within the citizenry of a nation, in the good-will which they individually evince toward other peoples.

Respect for Law Essential

"We need the teaching that the foundation of government is respect for law. A quickened interest on the part of the community can insist upon proper enforcement of law, can arouse public opinion, while any condition of lawlessness remains unchecked in that community."

"You can impress upon the citizens that the road of self-government is through the discharge of our obligations at the ballot box; to understand that the best of defense is a willingness to serve in our citizen soldiery; actively to participate in these and multitude of duties of citizens—all are an inseparable part of the safety and progress of the nation."

The President took as his text many of the ideals embraced in the preamble of the Legion's constitution which he personally saw written in France in 1919.

Discussing the ideal, "to promote peace and good will," he said, "Real peace in the world requires something more than documents which we sign to terminate wars. Peace requires unrelenting, courageous campaigns, laid with strategy and carried on successfully on a hundred fronts and sustained in spirit and from the hearts of every individual in every town and village of our country. The maintenance of respect requires that we sustain a preparedness for defense that is impregnable yet that contains no threat of aggression."

He said the United States had safeguarded its defense by "parity with the greatest naval power in the world" under the London naval treaty, but by limiting its strength "we have given a demonstration to the world that we seek no domination but only adequate defense."

Not a Military Nation

The American people, he added, have always been opposed to a large standing army.

"We have always relied on our citizen army, and never relied in vain," he asserted, "but its maintenance is again the voluntary service of good citizenship."

Referring to the Legion's "mutual helpfulness" ideal, the President said a "grateful nation" was now spending $900,000,000 a year for veterans' rehabilitation, adjusted compensation, and insurance, two-thirds of this going to veterans of the World war.

"The nation assumes an obligation when it sends its sons to war," he asserted. "The nation is proud to require this obligation within its full resources."

Declaring he was glad to extend the government veterans' relief program by signing the disability pension bill of the last session, the President said the Legion could perform a great public service by seeing to it that pension applications do not "exceed the measure that justice requires and self help can provide."

"If we shall overload the burden of taxation," he added, "we shall stagnate our economic progress and we shall by the slackening of his progress place penalties upon every citizen."

The very beginning of "obligations to the community, the state and the nation"—another Legion ideal—is at the ballot box, the President asserted.

"The whole plan of self-government," he said, "presupposes that the whole people shall participate in the election of its officials, the determination of its policies, and the maintenance of its ideals. Anything less than this involves government by the minority."

northwest France Sunday morning, the dirigible lost altitude and sometime after 2 a. m. failed to rise above an encircling rim of hills about a valley south of here.

Engineer's Account

H. J. Leach, engineer of the Royal Airship works and pilot of the ship at the time, gave the most coherent account of the tragedy. "We got into a terrific storm with high winds and the dirigible simply would not rise. I gave her more gas to get her up into the air, but she did not respond."

"Rain was falling in such torrents that our ship was blown down to earth. She bumped twice slightly and then with a terrific impact she buried her nose into the ground. Immediately there came a tremendous explosion, followed by two lesser ones, and flames engulfed the airship."

"I was shot outside my pilot window—I do not know how—and found myself on the ground. At the moment of the catastrophe everybody aboard except myself and assistant navigators were asleep. The motors were turning to perfection. It was the tempest which caused our destruction."

Residents about Beauvais were awakened first by the motors of the ship as it passed low over their heads.

REPORT FORMER MISHAP

Discovery of Defects Last July Casts Shadow on Sunday's Tragedy.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Daily Express today related an "alarming experience which overtook the R-101 during the air pageant last July which casts a mysterious shadow across yesterday's terrible disaster."

The story as told the Express' air correspondent is that immediately after leaving London and after having been in the air about four hours officers discovered that she continuously lost height.

Members of the crew who examined her gas bags found the tall balloons, which are made of gas-filled skin, were chafing against the metal framework. This was reported to the senior officer who immediately set a course for Cardington and ordered all available speed.

The ship returned safely and was moored but was saved only by the swift action of her captain, Flight Lieutenant Irwin, who dumped the entire water ballast and two tons of heavy fuel and employed every other means of reducing weight. After she was taken from the moat and put in her shed it was discovered that more than 60 small holes were worn in the balloons.

When the new bag was inserted it was understood that a new method was introduced for arrangement of these gas balloons but the paper adds: "The theory of yesterday's disaster points to recurrence of the same trouble encountered in July."

MOURNING DAY SET

France Sets Aside Tuesday for Tribute to Memory of Dead.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 6.—While the French cabinet decided today that tomorrow, Tuesday, should be observed as a day of national mourning for the victims of the R-101 disaster, Premier Tardieu himself will attend the funeral ceremony at Beauvais tomorrow.

OPINIONS ON CAUSE VARY

Pilot Denies Ship Became Unmanageable During Storm.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 6.—While all Britain mourned the tragic end of the R-101, and 48 of the 54 men officially reported aboard her, near Beauvais, theories of the causes of the disaster were discussed. These theories ranged from structural defects to inability to maneuver the giant vessel in a storm.

The idea that the ship became uncontrollable in the form came from the story of French people living near the scene of the tragedy. They told British air officials that the ship at an altitude of only 400 feet seemed to be having engine difficulties and was unmanageable. H. J. Leach, pilot of the ship denied this.

South of Beauvais the ship bumped against the ground lightly several times and then falling to rise above the rim of the valley, crashed into the hillsides. As immediate explosion followed, Leach believes an electrical connection may have been broken by the impact causing an electrical spark to fire the highly explosive hydrogen or lifting gas.

No one in authority lays any significance to the fact that sinking was permitted on the ship.

The R-101 was the largest dirigible in the world with a bulk of 5,600,000 cubic feet and a length of 775 feet. A radical step forward in her construction was the introduction of crude oil burning engines in place of gasoline engines heretofore in general use, a reform which greatly reduced the fire risk. On gasoline-driven airships smoking is not permissible because of the danger of fire causing an explosion but there was on order against smoking.

Police Fear Violence to Man Who Confessed Part in Murder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Frank H. Bell, the county jail prisoner whose confession last week gave authorities new information concerning the murder of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter was held under special guard today, in fear of his life.

Following his confession, which involved another prisoner, Richard Sullivan, Bell tipped off authorities to a jail break plot. This, following the confession in the Lingle case, aroused the animosity of other prisoners, and Bell asked that he be kept in a cell by himself, fearing violence from his jail mates.

William Lenhardt, under sentence of death, was the prisoner who plotted escape. Bell revealed a search of Lenhardt's cell disclosed

HOG MARKET SUPPLY HIGH

Foreign Stock Easy To Affect U. S. Price, Bulletin Says.

By the Associated Press
St. Louis, Oct. 6.—Ohio hogs are planning for the 1931 season should keep in mind that the market will be especially tight next year, according to the bulletin issued here to the Farm Bureau Corporation. The bulletin says that the market will probably be less tight for the past year.

The demand for pork and lard, it says, will be less than last year because of the decrease in the number of countries which are reported in the bulletin, which is the country, the most of our competitors, important bacon market.

Lard Shows Increase
The bulletin says that lard prices have fairly well maintained their level for some time. Lard at this time about two cents higher than in the summer, the bulletin continues that the price is almost as high as last year.

Increased hog production in the United States is likely to have an effect upon the demand for lard, the bulletin continues.

Prices of pork products from the United States have been well maintained over the past year, and this export demand has been a very considerable factor in maintaining a fairly high level for prices.

Hence any foreign competition or decline in demands will have a downward effect in prices for hogs here, the bulletin states. Sentiment on lard prices, according to the bulletin, changed quite definitely during the summer.

Above Expectations
During the month of July, October lard, the bulletin says, was selling at about $9.50. October lard, a week ago, was selling around $11.25 to $11.50, which is an increase of almost $2 above the level expected three months ago. This change suggests that the trades in provisions may at times guess the market wrong, the bulletin suggests.

With the foreign demand on a probably smaller volume basis, prices for hogs will depend to a larger than usual degree on the supply of domestic markets and demands, the bulletin says. Should this supply increase to any extent, prices for hogs would be very definitely lower. On the other hand, a continued shrinkage in numbers would see hog prices well maintained.

On the basis of these figures, the bulletin says, the farmers will have nothing to fear for hogs to be sold before the middle of next summer. Should the corn crop next year be normal, there will undoubtedly be a heavy demand for pigs of the feeder type next fall. In other words, according to the bulletin, breeders for the pig crop of next spring are taking a chance on next summer's corn crop. The carry-over of corn will be very small, the bulletin says, so that farmers will buy pigs next fall as they have new corn.

There may be pleasant surprises in store. Those whose birthday it is must be assured that they stand at the brink of the unknown, with the prospect of sudden and unpredictable changes of quite radical importance. Doubtless change of employment and environment are inevitable, all precipitated by a tendency to restlessness and roving, and possibly by ill health. The personal afflictions are likewise imperiled. And yet the element of the uncertain may carry a happy surprise as well.

A child born on this day may be inclined to be nervous, restless, changeable and uncertain although probably talented and skillful. It will be unconventional, unorthodox and difficult to keep within metes and bounds.

ART, MUSICMiss Marie Bintz Marries
Clyde O., Physician Today
at St. Mary's Ceremony

PALMS and fall flowers in autumn colors adorned the sanctuary at St. Mary's Catholic church for the marriage of Miss Marie Constance Bintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Loren Bintz of 570 East Center street, and Dr. Eugene J. Shanahan of Clyde, which was solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning with a solemn high nuptial mass. The altar vases held yellow and bronze pom poms and greenery and tall wicker vases at the entrance of the sanctuary were filled with gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Bows of white tulle marked the pews.

The pastor, Rev. Fr. William J. Spickerman, read the marriage ceremony and was the celebrant at the mass with Rev. Fr. Sheekhoff of the Immaculate Conception parish in Bellevue as deacon and Rev. Fr. Henry R. Krieger, assistant pastor at St. Mary's church as sub-deacon. Acolytes included the bride's brothers, Robert and Jack Bintz, Ted and Al Fiericks and Donald Gunder.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Lucille Conary played "To a Wild Rose" by MacDonald and John Lacey sang "Ave Maria" by Caro Roma. For the processional Miss Conary played the Lohengrin wedding march and for the recessional, Mendelssohn wedding march. Members of the girls' choir sang the solemn high mass and Mr. Lacey sang "O Salutaris" for the offertory. At the close of the mass Mr. Lacey sang "God of My Heart."

The wedding was one of the loveliest of the year and was attended by more than 200 guests.

The bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Loren Bintz Jr., as matron of honor, Miss Betty Nunn as maid of honor and Mrs. Ted Bintz, also a sister-in-law, and Miss Nellie Shanahan, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids. Little Miss Muriel Shanahan, niece of Dr. Shanahan, was the flower girl. William Foley of Chicago, a classmate small hats worn by the bridesmaids and maid of honor were of russet tulle with small flowers matching the tone of their gowns applied on the back. The matron of honor wore a velvet hat matching her gown in color and her hat was of brown velvet with ostrich trim. The pumps worn by the attendants harmonized with their gowns in color and their gloves were dark in an eggshell shade. Each wore a mandarin necklace and bracelet, the gift of the bride. Dr. Shanahan's gift to his bride was the wedding ring and the bridesmaids' gifts were Chinese cigarette lighters.

Mrs. A. Loren Bintz Jr. wore a gown in amber shade and Mrs. Ted Bintz's gown was in a Russet shade. Both carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums tied with bows of satin ribbon in rust shades. The bridesmaids' gowns were in golden brown shades and they carried gold-colored chrysanthemum bouquets. Little Miss Shanahan wore a frock of yellow chiffon with a belt in transparent velvet matching her frock and she carried a yellow basket holding bronze and yellow pom poms. Following the ceremony a reception and wedding breakfast were held at Hotel Harding. Covers were placed for 75 guests at tables arranged in the ballroom. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake and the only color note was carried out with sprays of greenery. The guests were seated at small tables centered with vases of Italian pottery filled with yellow and bronze pom poms. Baskets of chrysanthemums in shades of yellow and bronze arranged a charming setting for the tables.

Dr. and Mrs. Shanahan will spend their honeymoon in Chicago and before returning home will attend the Notre Dame-Navy football game at South Bend, Ind. They will be joined there by Mrs. and Mrs. A. Loren Bintz and sons Bobby and Jack, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bintz. The bride wore a gown of light blue satin with a belt in transparent velvet matching her frock and she carried a yellow basket holding bronze and yellow pom poms. The bridesmaids' gowns were in golden brown shades and they carried gold-colored chrysanthemum bouquets.

Another delightful affair honoring Miss Mulrow was the dinner Thursday night at which Mrs. L. C. McGowan was hostess at her home at 315 South Prospect street. Tallman roses carried out the color note in the decorations.

Acidity
Slams More Doors than Temper!

"Touchy" and grouchy husbands are often only sick men! It's acid in their systems speaking when they bark and growl. Excess acid formed in the stomach causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. It sets up putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines which spread poisons through the system and make us weak, tired, nervous and irritable.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. This new acid corrective comes in the form of a small, white tablet, called Magnesia Oxidols. Magnesia Oxidols upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, as any doctor will tell you, active oxygen when created within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to a real correction of acidity.

Make this Acidity Test
See for yourself how much acid has to do with your indigestion, your cranky spells, your blue days and sleepless nights. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxidols from Bradley's Drug Store, or any other druggist.

Take two after each meal. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If, after taking the contents of one bottle, you don't notice a decided improvement in your condition, return the bottle to your druggist and he will promptly refund your money.—Adv.

CHAPTER 30
Foul Play
He drove his car down the road and across the bridge with small regard for the laws of the sovereign state. He covered the Lock Tavern club an hour.

There he skirted the club property to the abandoned canal. It was a valuable minutes to the lock keeper.

It was the Jenny Thorne's question of the moored boat that is, of her further up; he did not move today.

"What do I take?" My car's impatiently. "My car's pointing toward the road don't go no there ain't no other place. You'll have to go." Thorne started laughing. Once beyond the lock house, he quickly walked in an easy bounding a bend in the river a boat moored to the ahead.

Thorne looked over the stern and the words, in black lettering, were plain: Jerry Wren. Again he halted. The echo of his voice was his only reply. Going over to the cabin door he rapped, waited—once minute—two minutes, then turned the handle and looked inside. No one was there.

Considerably perturbed he crossed the cabin, fitted up with homely comforts as both living and dining room, to the inner door. Opening that he walked into the kitchen; still no one was in sight. Glancing hurriedly about he caught sight of another door and swung it open. Apparently it was the sleeping quarters of the owner and his wife, for two comfortable bunks lined the walls.

He was about to turn back and re-enter the kitchen, when a groan smote his ears. It came from under a pile of bedclothes thrown hither-sketter on top of one of the bunks. Tossing them off, Thorne saw an elderly woman lying, fully dressed, in the bunk, bound and gagged. Swiftly he released her, and filling a cap with some whiskey from his flask, he gave it to her.

He smiled down at her. "Please tell me what's happened here, and where," he hesitated. Lambert had never mentioned the name of the owner of the Jenny Wren, "where is your husband?"

"Sol Smith? Oh, he's gone cityward for a spell," Mrs. Smith raised both her hands to her aching head.

"How did you get in this fix?" At the question, the woman's shaken wife returned to her with a rush. "Oh, that nice young man," she moaned, then with complete change of tone, her eyes flashing: "See if he's on the boat and use your gun. If you've got one, 'cause he'll wallop you same as he done me."

Thorne needed no second bidding. He had paused only to revive the woman. Entering the smaller stateroom he found the place in confusion. A suit case lay on the floor, its contents scattered hither and yon, the bedding from the two bunks was dumped in one corner, the mattresses spread in another—apparently nothing had been left intact; even the built-in dresser was ransacked and its contents spread about. The detective sped from there into the hull and so over the canal boat, then went once more to the owner's stateroom, thoroughly convinced that he and Mrs. Smith were its only living occupants.

He found Mrs. Smith sitting in a chair, nursing her head. "Where is Jack Winslow?" he demanded, and the woman's cheeks grew even paler.

"Was the same thing he asked," she mumbled incoherently, "an' before I could turn around he swatted me over the head."

"The nice young fella I was tellin' you about, but you won't listen," Mrs. Smith was on the verge of tears, between fright and shock. She edged her chair around so that Thorne could not approach closer without her knowing it. "I told him 'twas none of his business where Jack was, an' he bows polite an' thinks I, he's gone, when bang, an' I knows no more till I come to in my own bunk with a rag in my mouth an' them clothes on top o' me."

"What did the man look like?" questioned Thorne eagerly. "Did he give his name?"

She shook her head. "I axed but he never said." A sneeze interrupted her and Thorne frowned with impatience. "He weren't so tall as you, was dark complexioned, with a tiny mustache, beautiful teeth an' a pleasant smile; that's all I can tell you."

Thorne hesitated; every moment was of value, but could he leave the elderly woman alone on the boat? Suppose the stranger came back and did her further injury? Her description fitted no one Thorne could recall; and yet his errand implied knowledge of Jack Winslow. But if he was sent by Mrs. Winslow to locate Jack, why should he attack the old woman? Also, instead of sending another, why had not Mrs. Winslow confided her knowledge of Jack's hiding place to her husband and let him come for Jack? Above all, where the devil was Jack?

"Mrs. Smith," Thorne spoke slowly, impressively. "It is imperative that I get in touch with Jack Winslow—for your sake, too."

"I can't tell you where to find Jack," she gasped; "honest, I can't. He left before sun-up."

A blessed girl is one who is so entertaining that it isn't noticed whether she is pretty or not.

Foreign Policy Expert Opens New Program

JAMES G. McDONALD, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association, will resume his radio talks of international political events and trends in his series "The World Today" over the WEAH network Monday at 7:15 p. m.

McDonald has been a student of international problems for many years. His contacts with diplomats and statesmen, his travels and his participation in important international conferences add to the wisdom of his observations the flavor of first-hand knowledge.

The title of his first talk of the season will be "An Uneasy Europe." McDonald has just returned from Europe, where he attended meetings at Geneva. He has discussed affairs over there with leading statesmen. His talks are not confined to European countries alone. His contacts in Geneva included the representatives of Japan and China from the Far East, the Republics of Latin America, and the States of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

LUDWIG LAURIER
Laurier is the director of the Slumber Hour program heard at 11 p. m. daily over the WJZ network.

During the Beaconsight program over stations associated with the NBC network at 7:30 p. m.

When the Bourbons' Evening in Paris hours is broadcast over WABC and the Columbia network Monday at 9:30 p. m., radio listeners will hear Taylor Buckley, baritone, singing "One Love," a specialty number by Pierre Bruchon, tenor, as well as a lively musical program by the Evening in Paris orchestra and quartet.

Boys and girls will hear dramatizations of famous stories when the Mullins Story Program is broadcast over an NBC network starting Monday at 5 p. m.

Popular Hits on Family Party Network Bill

TWO of the most popular hits of the day, neither of which they have ever done before will be sung by the Brigadiers Quartet for the first time Monday at 9:30 p. m. during the Family Party program through Station WEAH.

The first is Walter Donaldson's current best seller "Little White Lies" which is helping preserve its composer's reputation as the hit of the Year Man of Tin Pan Alley. The other is the melody that took most of the bows when The Second Little Show had its Broadway debut a couple of weeks ago, "Sling Something Simple" by Herman Hupfeld.

During the past few days Frank Black, who thinks of startling things for the Brigadiers vocal cords, has made special arrangements of both songs, which, needless to add are in the best manner Monday evening Black will be at the piano when the famous four some perform them.

Selected arias from Verdi's opera, "The Force of Destiny" will be heard over WABC and the Columbia network Monday at 10 p. m. Assisted by the Columbia symphony orchestra, the cast will include Adele Vasa, soprano, as Leonora.

President Herbert Hoover will address the radio audience over WABC and the Columbia network during the broadcasting of the Sesqui-Centennial Celebration of the Battle of Kings Mountain in South Carolina, to be staged on the battle ground Tuesday. The Columbia network, picking up the proceedings, will be on the air from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

The decks of the Mardi Gras boat will resound to the music of Freddie Rich and his Roubaints, starting Monday at 11 p. m.

INTEREST in the world's series classic will take big jump today with the Athletics and Cardinals battling to break a tie standing seven to five favorites before the series to be the 1930 world champs, the Athletics have slipped until now they are no better than even money. In St. Louis they are not even that much. In fact it is almost suicide in the western metropolis to even suggest that the American league champs have as much as a chance.

Regardless of which team is the betting favorite at the present time the St. Louis team is holding a distinct edge in pitching talent for the remaining games. With the veteran Haines leading Grove his 3-1 defeat yesterday. Manager Street of the Cards has Grimes and Hallahan ready to shoot the works against the A's. Rehm is also ready for work but his debut against the Athletics in the second game being what it was isn't probable he will be used much again this year. Today Grimes will probably take the hill against the Swathmore star, Earnshaw with the two porters, Hallahan and Grove slated to shoot their fast ones in the Wednesday game. The teams will be on the road Tuesday.

The failure of "Sunny Jim" Bottomley to hit even his own weight during the series must be a matter of much concern for Gabby Street. In four games of the series the first pitcher of the National league champs has garnered exactly one hit, that a two buster, off the Athletics hurlers. Battling in the cleanup position his failure to hit has cost the Cards a lot of scores. It might not be so bad if Bottomley alone failed to hit. But with Tuckey Douthitt up in the batting column, the work of the Cards is doubled. If these two Cardinals slug guns go off in the remaining series games the Athletics will have their hands full.

With the N. C. O. grid schedule being as it is for this coming weekend things are going to happen. If Gallon beats Mansfield (don't laugh, it can be done) the former goes into first place with two wins and no defeats. If Mansfield wins (it probably will) Gallon will step down in favor of the Murphyens. But if the two above named battle to a deadlock and Ashland wins the latter will be champs for a week. If Ashland loses to Harding—figure it out yourself, you might as well make the mistake as me. Even Bucyrus may have to give up its position for one higher—though it does not play a league opponent. If Harding loses it will go to last place with two defeats and Bucyrus will move up as it has only one defeat. Shelby does not open its league season until a week later.

Older People must watch their Bowels Constantly

AS WE grow older the bowels become more sluggish. They don't get rid of all the waste. Some days they do not move at all. So older people need to watch their bowels constantly. Only by doing this can they hope to avoid constipation.

When your bowels need help, remember a doctor knows what is best for them, and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from the nearest drugstore. Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for the bowels, good for all ages.

No restriction of habits or diet is necessary while taking Syrup Pepsin. Made from fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients, it is absolutely safe. It will not gripe, sicken or weaken you. Take a spoonful next

GRIMES TO HURL FOR CARDINALS

B. A. A. GRID TEAMS IN WARMUP GAMES FOR ANOTHER WEEK

Ohio U. Meets West Va. Team; Denison Meets Muskies Outfit.

By The Associated Press
FOOTBALL teams in the Buckeye conference are taking one more week to warm up for their annual championship campaign. Ohio university, victorious in 13 straight games and apparently headed for another brilliant season, meets West Liberty normal of West Virginia, at Athens. Last year the Bobcats won 26 to 0, but all agreed it was their hardest game of the year.

Denison, defeated by both Michigan and Xavier, by the latter 13 to 0 Saturday, plays Muskingum in a Friday night game at New Concord and is quite likely to get lamed. The Muskies walloped Western Reserve in Cleveland Saturday 18 to 6, showing great sustained scoring power.

Ohio Wesleyan, victim of an astounding but thoroughly honest upset at the hands of Heidelberg university, 25 to 13, plays Union and will have no set-up.

Bearcats in Tough Game
Cincinnati, victor over Kentucky Wesleyan last week-end by 6 to 0 plays Michigan State, which held Michigan university to a scoreless tie Saturday. The Bearcats probably will lose. An interesting comparison will be furnished by Miami's game with Kentucky Wesleyan. The Oxfordians tied Illinois reserves 6 to 6 Saturday.

The University of Pittsburgh, annually one of the nation's strongest teams, plays at Western 13 to 0 Saturday. The game will attract but not one calculated to make Reserve's 1930 record look any better. Wittenberg plays host to Washington and Jefferson, alma mater of Wittenberg's coach, Big Bill Stobbs last year. W. and J. won at Little Washington, Pa., 15 to 0, and probably will repeat the dose Saturday at Springfield.

Case and Oberlin, two of the oldest rivals in Ohio conference will stage their annual struggle at Oberlin. Case has won its first two games, defeating Hiram 20 to 0 last Saturday while Oberlin was losing to Rochester in New York, 13 to 0.

Worster Beaten 6-0

Kent plays Akron which was idle last week-end while Kent was losing to Mount Union. Worster, victim of a slight upset in Ashland's 6 to 0 victory last Saturday, plays Baldwin-Wallace which was also surprised by Bowling Green, 7 to 6.

Marquette beat Rio Grande 31 to 0 Saturday and now plays Capital which held on to a safety scored against Bluffton and defeated the Beavers Saturday 2 to 0 although greatly outplayed. Heidelberg, which sent Finley, Seale, Volaky and Fingerhuth scampered right and left through Ohio Wesleyan, will try its luck against the Ohio State reserves.

Oberlin opened its season with a 25 to 0 victory over the Ohio State reserves.

Chattanooga university has a pair of brothers playing beside each other in the line. Arthur Koeninger is a center and Arthur a guard.

MACK TO DEPEND ON SLANTS OF EARNSHAW

Series Deadlocked at Two Games Each; Red Birds Confident.

Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Gabby Street's St. Louis Cardinals today were right back where they started the World's series at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, last Wednesday. With four games behind them, the champions of the American and National league stood all even, with two victories each, the home team winning every contest played.

The two St. Louis victories made a new National league "high" since 1925 when the same Cardinals won the series.

After the fifth game today, the battlefield will again be transferred, the players moving back to Philadelphia for at least one contest.

The Cardinals leveled the series by giving 37-year-old Jesse Haines, their knuckleball expert, support in keeping with his masterly pitching. The score was 3 to 1 and Lefty Grove, Connie Mack's left-handed ace, was the victim, although the defeat was not entirely the fault of the tall southpaw.

Grove held the Cardinals to five hits, only one more than the total allowed by Haines, but all the mistakes were scored in two innings.

HERR-LARSEN WIN IN DOUBLES TOURNAY

Yazel-Penry Defeated in Final Match; Jones Wins Singles Title.

Art Yazel and Glen Penry were defeated yesterday afternoon by Herman Herr and Larsen of Gallon in the final match of the Shovel-Star tennis tournament, played on the Shovel courts. This victory gives the Gallon team the championship of doubles division.

Yazel and Penry took the first set of the match by a 2-6 score. Herr and Larsen battered their way through the second set to a 6-1 victory and followed in the third with a 7-5 win. The deciding match went to the victors by a score of 6-3.

Herr and Larsen will each be given a silver loving cup for winning the championship.

C. E. Jones was the winner of the singles division of the tournament, having defeated Art Yazel in the final match a week ago yesterday. He will be given a cup emblematic of the singles championship.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The Cubs made a trip to Chicago yesterday today—a trip they hadn't expected to make—with large ideas of finishing up the city series.

After talking the second game at Comiskey park and winning the opener in their own park Friday, the Cubs figured to wind up the series in Wrigley field, but they reckoned without Tommy Thomas, who gave them six hits and an 8 to 2 beating Saturday.

The National league entrant again went one-up on the White Sox yesterday when Pat Malone outlasted five Sox pitchers for a 6 to 4 victory. Ted Lyons who stopped the Cubs in the first game of the set, was not the pitcher to fool them yesterday and he was batted from the hill in the fifth inning.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The Cubs made a trip to Chicago yesterday today—a trip they hadn't expected to make—with large ideas of finishing up the city series.

After talking the second game at Comiskey park and winning the opener in their own park Friday, the Cubs figured to wind up the series in Wrigley field, but they reckoned without Tommy Thomas, who gave them six hits and an 8 to 2 beating Saturday.

The National league entrant again went one-up on the White Sox yesterday when Pat Malone outlasted five Sox pitchers for a 6 to 4 victory. Ted Lyons who stopped the Cubs in the first game of the set, was not the pitcher to fool them yesterday and he was batted from the hill in the fifth inning.
